

REBEL ALLIANCE MILITARY OOB

Alliance Military Structure & Order of Battle

Sources: Rules of Engagement (WEG) · The Rebel Files · Essential Guide to Warfare
Galactic Civil War — 2 BBY

SOURCE PRIORITY: The Rebel Files (canon, 2017) takes precedence where sources conflict. Rules of Engagement (WEG Legends, 1997) provides the most detailed unit structure breakdown and is used for SpecForce organization. Essential Guide to Warfare (2012) fills in command hierarchy and strategic context.

PART I — ALLIANCE HIGH COMMAND STRUCTURE

SOURCE: The Rebel Files — Mon Mothma internal document, pre-Scarif

The Alliance military is subordinate to Political High Command but given significant autonomy. Unlike the Imperial military, Alliance commands operate with considerable independence. Coordination happens at the High Command level, not below it.

Political High Command

Position	Notes
Chief of State — Mon Mothma	Commander in Chief of all Alliance forces. Final authority on military action.
Minister of War	Oversees military budget and strategic priorities.
Minister of Supply	Controls logistics, ordnance, and supply chains. Often controls what gets built and what does not.
Minister of State	Foreign affairs — manages relationships with sympathetic neutral systems.
Minister of Finance	Funds the war. Alliance is chronically underfunded.
Minister of Education	Propaganda and morale on Alliance-controlled worlds.
Secretary of the Cabinet	Coordinates between Political and Military High Commands. Bail Organa held this role pre-Alderaan.

Military High Command

Branch	Commander (pre-Yavin)	Role
Commander in Chief	Mon Mothma	Overall military authority.
Starfighter Command	Gen. Jan Dodonna	Y-wing and X-wing operations. Hyperspace-capable strike missions. Primary combat force of the early Rebellion.
Fleet Command	Adm. Raddus	Capital ship operations. Battle line management. Grew after Mon Calamari joined the Alliance.
Special Forces (SpecForce)	Gen. Pitt Onoran (pre-Yavin) Gen. Crix Madine (post-Yavin)	All SpecForce operations galaxy-wide. Reports directly to High Command.
Alliance Intelligence	Gen. Davits Draven	Intel ops, agent networks, covert action. Separate chain of command from SpecForce.
Sector Command	Gen. Jan Dodonna	Coordination with sector-level Alliance cells and Sector Forces.
Ordnance & Supply	Gen. Baccam Grafis	Weapons, equipment, logistics pipeline.

Support Services	Gen. Dustil Forell	Medical, engineering, base construction and maintenance.
------------------	--------------------	--

NOTE: Crix Madine (Imperial defector) given command of SpecForces after Yavin. Under Ackbar's fleet-first reorganization post-Yavin, SpecForces was subordinated more closely to fleet operations but retained significant operational independence.

PART II — SECTOR FORCES (SecForces)

SOURCE: Essential Guide to Warfare, The Rebel Files

Sector Forces are the backbone of the Alliance ground war — irregular troops organized by sector. Quality varies enormously. They are NOT the same as SpecForce.

Characteristic	Details
Organization	No standard structure. Each Sector Force organized differently based on local resources, leadership, and planet type.
Size range	Large Sector Forces (Corellia, Bothan): tens of thousands of troops with vehicles and artillery. Typical: a few thousand irregulars with whatever could be stolen, scrounged, or captured. Small cells: 20–200 fighters.
Uniform	No standard Alliance uniform. Many wear old Planetary Security Force gear. DH-17 pistols and A280 rifles flooded the black market after the Empire took over the PSFs.
Standard weapons	DH-17 blaster pistol, A280 blaster rifle most common. Whatever can be acquired locally.
Nickname	Called "SecForces" or "Troopies" by SpecForce troopers. Practical distinction, not derogatory.
Relationship to SpecForce	SpecForce is frequently assigned to augment, train, and reinforce Sector Forces. Supporting regular forces is one of SpecForce's primary missions.
Role	Hold territory temporarily. Provide mass for operations. Local insurgency and harassment. Cannot sustain against Imperial regulars without SpecForce support and starfighter cover.

Notable Sector Force Commanders

Commander	Sector	Notes
Hera Syndulla	Lothal / Phoenix Sector	Commands Phoenix Cell, later Phoenix Squadron. Holds full Alliance officer commission. One of the most effective sector commanders.
Saw Gerrera	Various (rogue)	Technically a Sector Force commander but operates independently. Alliance does not officially sanction his methods.
Corellian Sector Force	Corellia	One of the most capable. Ran high-profile raids independently of High Command. Strong fleet component.
Bothan Sector Force	Bothan Space	Known for intelligence gathering. Bothan Spynet technically part of their sector force intel apparatus.

PART III — ALLIANCE SPECIAL FORCES (SpecForce)

SOURCE: Rules of Engagement (WEG), The Rebel Files — Melshi and Seertay documents

SpecForce is the elite fighting arm of the Alliance — roughly 100,000 beings total. Optimized for commando warfare. Operates as temporary task forces, not fixed formations. "Marines, pathfinders, urban guerrillas, techs, wilderness fighters, heavy weapons specialists, and infiltrators make up Special Forces. We infiltrate. We exfiltrate. We go in first and strike from cover. We do this better than the Empire, and that is how we'll win this war." — Sgt. Ruescott Melshi

SpecForce Organizational Structure

SOURCE: Rules of Engagement Chapter 7

Unit	Commander	Size	Notes
Fire Team	Senior Trooper	2-5 troopers	Basic tactical movement element. Two fire teams make one squad.
Squad	Sergeant	5-15 troopers	Primary unit. Identified by color: Red Squad, Blue Squad, Green Squad, Gold Squad.
Platoon	Lieutenant	4 squads	Cross-attached with other platoon types for missions. Often deployed as small independent taskforces.
Company	Captain or Major	5 platoons	Two types: Order Companies (OBC — administrative) and Taskforce Companies (TFC — operational). Named by aurebesh alphabet: Aurek, Besh, Cresh, Dorn Companies.
Regiment	Colonel	3-6 companies (4 typical)	Primary accounting/pool unit. Rarely deploys as full regiment. Named by specialist type.
Division	General or Colonel	Min. 8 regiments	~10 SpecForce divisions galaxy-wide at 2 BBY. One (Command Division) permanently attached to Alliance High Command.
Taskforce	Taskforce Commander (TC)	Platoon- to company-sized	The actual operational unit. TC assigned purely on ability. Platoon TF = Lieutenant. Company TF = Captain or Major. Taskforce dissolves after mission.

The Taskforce System: SpecForce missions are always performed by a taskforce — a temporary unit assembled for one specific objective. There are NO permanent SpecForce tactical formations. Once the mission ends the taskforce dissolves back into regimental pools.

PART IV — SPECFORCE SPECIALIST REGIMENTS

SOURCE: Rules of Engagement Chapter 7

Eight specialist regiment types. Regiments rarely deploy as units — they are pools from which taskforce elements are drawn.

Regiment	Type	Primary Role	Standard Equipment	Campaign Use
1st	SpaceOps ("Vacheads")	Ship/station security. Boarding actions. Zero-g specialists.	Blaster pistol, carbine, grenades, space suit, vibroknife	Boarding Imperial vessels. Station raids. Attached to Fleet Command.
2nd	Pathfinders ("TrekSpecs")	Covert drops. Reconnaissance. Clearing beachheads and holding landing zones.	Blaster rifle, grenades, camo poncho (+1D sneak), survival pack, repulsorcraft	Always go in first. Endor operation. Col. Seertay wrote the standard Pathfinder manual.
3rd	Urban Combat Specialists (UCS)	Streetfighting. House-to-house. Industrial citysprawl. Hit-and-fade in urban terrain.	Blaster pistol, grenades, explosives, light ISWs, combat repulsorcraft, vibroknife	City raids. TIE factory sabotage. Lothal-type operations.
4th	Wilderness Fighters	All non-urban terrain. Sub-specialize by environment: aquatic, arctic, desert, forest, mountains.	Blaster pistol, speeder bike, survival pack, vibroknife, blaster artillery in some units	Only regiment maintaining repulsortank units. Guard Alliance bases in remote terrain.
5th	Infiltrators ("Wraiths")	Stealth ops. Sabotage. Assassination. Asset extraction. Most feared branch.	Silenced slugthrower, garrote, vibroknife, shadowsuit (+2D sneak), snooper goggles	Constantly on loan to Alliance Intelligence. A successful Infiltrator mission is not detected for hours.
6th	Heavy Weapon Specialists (HWS)	Dedicated heavy weapons support for all other units. Trained on every weapon type.	Heavy weapon (varies), blaster pistol, comlink, vibroknife	Cross-attached to taskforces for firepower. Also used as ship gunners on Alliance fleet vessels.
7th	Technicians ("SpecTechs")	Drivers, pilots, medics, engineers, comms operators. Catchall specialists. Do not operate as combat units.	Varies: tech kit, detonite (engineers), medpac (medics), blaster pistol	Assigned individually to support other companies. Always in demand, perpetually understaffed.
8th (inferred)	SpecForce Marines	Conventional assault infantry. Closest SpecForce equivalent to standard line infantry.	Blaster rifle, grenades, standard combat gear	Planetary assault landings alongside Sector Forces. Used when SpecForce needs to briefly hold ground.

PART V — STANDARD WEAPONS & EQUIPMENT

SOURCE: Rules of Engagement Chapter 6, The Rebel Files, Essential Guide to Warfare

Weapon	Type	Who Uses	Notes
A280 blaster rifle	Standard infantry rifle	SecForce regulars	Most common Rebel rifle. Surplus from Planetary Security Forces after Empire takeover.
DH-17 blaster pistol	Sidearm	All ranks	Standard Alliance sidearm. Also PSF surplus. Widely available.
BlasTech A295 blaster rifle	Heavy infantry rifle	SpecForce troopers	More powerful than A280. Used by experienced SpecForce troops.
ELG-3A blaster pistol	Compact sidearm	Officers, diplomats	Concealable. Used in non-combat and undercover settings.
Slugthrower (silenced)	Infiltrator weapon	5th Regiment	Silent, no visible bolt. For stealth operations where blaster discharge would compromise position.
T-21 repeating blaster	Squad support	HWS, SecForce heavies	Reliable and simple. Common in Rebel units that cannot source heavier weapons.
ISW repeating blaster	Heavy fire support	HWS Regiment	Crew-served. Deployed for sustained fire support.
Thermal detonator	Anti-personnel/vehicle	SpecForce, elite	Not standard issue for SecForce. Extremely dangerous.
Smoke grenade (Nacht-5)	Signaling / concealment	SpecForce	Modified for colored smoke (red, green, blue) for long-distance signaling and extraction marking.
Antigrav field mine	Anti-vehicle mine	Wilderness / Infiltrators	Triggered by repulsor fields. Trap for pursuing Imperial vehicles after hit-and-fade.
Camouflage poncho	Concealment gear	Pathfinders, Wilderness	Adds +1D to sneak in natural terrain.
Shadowsuit	Full-body stealth suit	Infiltrators only	Adds +2D to sneak. Very rare. Only issued to experienced Infiltrator operatives.
ECM-598 Medical Pack	Field medicine kit	All units (medics)	Standard Alliance field medical kit. Diagnostic scanner, anti-venom, burn treatment, limited surgical apparatus.

PART VI — GROUND FORCE COMPOSITION FOR CAMPAIGN USE

How to apply this structure to the Sector Command campaign at 2 BBY.

Rebel Ground Force Types

Force Type	App Tag	Composition	Typical Size	Notes
SecForce Cell	REB_CELL	Local irregulars. Mixed weapons. No standard uniform.	20-200	Bulk of Alliance ground presence. Variable quality. Saw-type units.
SecForce Line Co.	REB_LINE_CPY	More organized Sector Force. Some Alliance training. Basic weapons.	100-300	Better equipped. Officers sometimes from defecting Imperial Army.
SpecForce Taskforce	REB_SF_TF	Mixed SpecForce specialists. Mission-assembled. Dissolves after objective.	10-100	Elite. Never a permanent garrison. Always on a specific objective.
SpecForce Pathfinders	REB_SF_PATH	2nd Regiment. Recon and beachhead specialists.	10-40	If present on a sector card, a major Alliance operation is incoming.
SpecForce Infiltrators	REB_SF_INFIL	5th Regiment. Stealth and sabotage specialists.	4-12	If present, an assassination or critical sabotage is the objective.
Alliance Marines	REB_MARINES	SpecForce line infantry. Conventional assault.	50-200	Used for conventional planetary assault alongside Sector Forces.

Deployment Rules for 2 BBY

Situation	Ground Force Composition
Imperial-controlled sector	Alliance presence is SecForce cells only. No SpecForce unless a specific named operation is underway.
Contested sector	SecForce line companies forming visible resistance. Possibly one SpecForce taskforce attached to the sector commander.
Rebel-controlled sector	Full SecForce garrison. Possible permanent SpecForce Wilderness Fighter detachment on perimeter. Pathfinders may be staging here.
Major Alliance base	Full SpecForce complement: Wilderness Fighters on perimeter, SpaceOps on ship security, Infiltrators as counterintelligence, Pathfinders ready for rapid deployment. SecForce provides bulk garrison.

SpecForce deployment rule	Always mission-specific. TC assigned, requisitions needed units, executes, taskforce dissolves. No standing SpecForce combat formations.
No standing Rebel Army	The Alliance has no equivalent to the Imperial Army as a permanent standing force. SecForces are local. SpecForce is specialized. There is no conventional front line.

KEY DIFFERENCE FROM IMPERIAL ARMY: The Imperial Army seizes and holds territory. SpecForce attacks objectives and withdraws. SecForces harass and delay. The Alliance does not hold ground — it raids, bleeds the Empire, and survives.